

James B. Spies M.D. MPH

Dr. Spies is Professor and Chair in the Department of Radiology at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington DC. He attended Georgetown University School of Medicine, graduating in 1980. Dr. Spies completed radiology residency at the University of California, San Francisco and a fellowship at New York University in Vascular and Interventional Radiology.

He has an active practice in Uterine Embolization for fibroids and has performed extensive research in the procedure. He is recognized as an international authority on the procedure. He has over 100 published scientific studies, given over 400 invited presentations and has edited a text on uterine embolization.

He has served as the chair of the SIR Foundation from 2006 to 2008 and SIR President from 2014 to 2015. He has been a trustee of the American Board of Radiology for interventional radiology since 2016.

He is a Fellow of the Society of Interventional Radiology (SIR) and the American College of Radiology (ACR). He has also been named a Distinguished Fellow of the Cardiovascular and Interventional Radiology Society of Europe (CIRSE) and Honorary Fellow of the British Society of Interventional Radiology (BSIR). He received the Gold Medal from the Society of Interventional Radiology in 2019.